Expo 58 by Jonathan Coe - review | Books | The Guardian

Expo 58 is, as I've come to expect from Jonathan Coe, very funny, with moments and characters reminiscent of Ealing comedy. Two secret service agents form a quickfire double act; a barmaid's name is Shirley Knott; blustering officials threaten to expel a man from a meeting when he references the Queen in a conversation about 'number twos'.

Expo 58 was an important historical event which still occupies a huge place in the collective memory of the Belgian people: the first such event after the Second World War, and a significant milestone in the reconciliation between the warring nations; the beginning of a closer co-operation between the European countries, shortly after the Treaty of Rome had been signed; and a landmark in the development of modern technology and architectural design.

Review: Expo 58, By Jonathan Coe | The Independent | The ...

Coe loves to write oblivious characters and in Expo 58 he weaves Central Office of Information junior copywriter Thomas Foley into a Cold War spy thriller. Though Foley knows he's involved in some kind of espionage, his unassuming nature means he never quite has a grip on what's happening around him.

Expo 58 by Jonathan Coe - Goodreads

Jonathan Coe FRSL (/ k oʊ /; born 19 August 1961) is an English novelist and writer. His work has an underlying preoccupation with political issues, although this serious engagement is often expressed comically in the form of satire. For example, What a Carve Up! reworks the plot of an old 1960s spoof horror film of the same name. It is set within the "carve up" of the UK's resources which was ...

Expo 58, by Jonathan Coe - review | The Spectator

Expo 58 may represent a glittering future, both for Europe and for Thomas himself, but he will soon be forced to decide where his public and private loyalties really lie. For fans of Jonathan Coe's classic comic bestsellers What a Carve Up! and The Rotters' Club, this hilarious new novel, which is set in the Mad Men period of the mid 50s, will also be loved by readers of Nick Hornby, William Boyd and Ian McEwan.

Jonathan Coe's tenth novel begins with historical fact. There was indeed an Expo (Exposition, or World's Fair) in 1958, hosted by the Belgian government on the Heysel plateau just north of Brussels.

Expo 58 on Apple Books

Expo 58 is a charming, refreshing, and breezy take on 1950s Cold War politics and espionage. It's a pretty easy read - refreshingly short actually. The writing is high-quality. The action is very "small" and personal. It is the opposite of your typical Cold War spy thriller, kind of an anti-James Bond novel.

Expo 58 by Jonathan Coe - review | Jonathan Coe | The Guardian

"Expo 58 is Coe at his funny-serious best, offering idiosyncratic mixture of slapstick and profundity in a love-and-spies story set at the height of the cold war...pure enjoyment." - Financial Times (UK)
